Wearing the sleep bra while sleeping on your back ensures that each breast is supported individually

Sleeping on the side without a bra puts pressure on the bottom breast due to the top breast wrinkling the cleavage.

While sleeping to the side, the sleep bra helps maintain separation between the breasts and avoids distortion. The product is especially beneficial for women with larger cup sizes.

Benefits of Bio Ceramic (Far Infrared Rays)

The FIR are also referred to as the “Light of Life” Rays for their therapeutic and healing properties.

1. These help regulate the blood flow in blood vessels which have been blocked due to blood clots.
2. They help in accelerating the cellular recovery process after workout or due to general wear and tear.
3. As we know, our body is made up of cells, and the most important ingredient in cells is water. They also help in enhancing the micronutrient uptake in the cells.
4. FIR are able to improve blood flow and continuously uplift the metabolic rate of the body. As the transport of the nutrients in the body depends on blood flow, the removal of metabolic waste matters from the various activities in the body is also dependent on the circulatory system.

Improves metabolism: The metabolic rate of each individual is an indicator of his/her health. If we wish to have a healthy life, we must maintain a good and strong metabolic rate. The better the metabolism the better your chances of staying fit and maintaining high levels of energy.

Improved Immunity: The improvement in the micro-circulatory system and metabolism of the body helps to slow down the ageing process, increase resistance against diseases and increases longevity.

Ideal for cold weather: Bio ceramic garments are more suited to cold climates as it helps keep the body warmer.
